Obaveštenje
Announcement

Drage kolegice i kolege,

Udruženje toksikologa Srbije ima veliko zadovoljstvo da Vas pozove da učestvujete na 10. Kongresu toksikologa Republike Srbije sa međunarodnim učešćem, koji će se održati od 22. do 25. septembra 2010. godine na Palicu.

Nadamo se da će i ovaj put program svojim veoma raznovrsnim i aktuelnim temama zainteresovati veliki broj stručnjaka iz oblasti toksikologije i drugih srodnih disciplina.

Predviđen je bogat socijalni program, koji će omogućiti prijatan boravak na Palicu, više neposrednih kontakata, razmene misljenja i dogovora oko buduće saradnje.

U nadi da će Kongres zadovoljiti najviši nivo naučnih standarda i Vaših očekivanja, radujemo se Vasem dolasku na Palicu.

Čekamo Vas na Kongresu

the 1990s, the number of people who have been employed in the public sector has increased in all countries. The increase in public sector employment has been particularly rapid in the United Kingdom, where the public sector has grown from 10.5% of the total labour force in 1980 to 16.5% in 1997 (see Figure 1).

There are a number of reasons for the increase in public sector employment. One reason is that the public sector has become a more important part of the economy. In many countries, the public sector has become a major employer, particularly in the service sector. Another reason is that the public sector has become a more attractive place to work. This is due to a number of factors, including the fact that the public sector is often seen as a more secure and stable place to work, and that it often offers better benefits and working conditions than the private sector.
